

TIP OF THE WEEK

FORAGING CLASSES NEAR ME

TERTIARY PREPPER™

THE PROBLEM

Learning wild edibles from books or videos alone can lead to dangerous identification mistakes.

THE SOLUTION

Train with experienced foraging instructors.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Smartphone or comp.

Transportation to class.

Notebook (optional).

QUICK STEPS

- 1 Visit the Eat the Planet class directory and select your state.
- 2 Find a class that matches your location and schedule.
- 3 Register and attend with proper outdoor clothing.
- 4 Practice what you learn until you can confidently identify plants on your own.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

- ✓ Positively identify every plant.
- ✓ Learn from experienced instructors.
- ✓ Practice between classes.

COMMON MISTAKES

- ✗ Relying only on books & YouTube.
- ✗ Assuming look-alike plants are safe.
- ✗ Never practicing after class.

FIELD NOTES

- ✓ Seasonal classes teach different plants.
- ✓ Local instructors know regional species.
- ✓ Continue practicing after each course.

TERTIARY TAKEAWAY

Wild edible knowledge weighs nothing—but it is a crucial skill that can feed you for a lifetime.
